

How To...Read Your Jewelry

To read your necklace or bracelet, first line it up in a circle so that it is properly oriented. Find the small blue-and-green Azurite-Malachite bead that looks like the Earth (it's right next to a ribbed silver bead).

These Earth and silver beads together mark the Ascendant, the beginning of your chart. Place the jewelry on the table in a circle at 9 o'clock, with the silver bead OVER the Earth (flip the jewelry if necessary).

This silver bead marks the first house, the first pie slice in the chart. The Earth tells you which way to read...counter-clockwise.

Moving counter-clockwise (downwards), look for a smooth silver bead. That's the marker for the 2nd house, the next pie slice on the chart. Then look for the next smooth silver bead, which marks the 3rd house. The next silver bead is again ribbed – not only does it mark the 4th house, but it's one of the Angles, one of the main house cusps marking North, South, East and West.

As you work your way around the circle, you'll see all 12 houses. On many designs, you'll also find tiny gold beads, which mark the 12 zodiac cusps, where the sky changes from one zodiac constellation to another. Your Sun Sign is where the sun bead is located between two gold beads.

The Planets are the semi-precious gemstones – they look like the planets in color and size. The postcard identifies the stones.

The colored glass or gemstone 4mm beads count the degrees around the circle. The whole circle equals 360°, and there are 30 degrees in each of the 12 zodiac segments. Each bead represents a specific number of degrees, depending on the length of your jewelry. The degrees are counted from 0 to the degree number, so on your first birthday, a planet landing at 15° 03' will be found on the next bead after 15. If two planets, or a planet and house, are in conjunction and land within the same degree range, they'll be side-by-side and still count as one bead.

Your jewelry is a meditation tool, like a rosary or a mala, to help you focus on your goals.

HOROSCOPE JEWELRY

1. Read the postcard in the report to identify the individual beads.
2. Use your printed report to learn what each bead does in your personality.
3. Find the beads responsible for your positive traits and play with them to enhance those traits.
4. When trying to break a bad habit, find the bead responsible for that behavior and say to yourself, "What can I do differently right NOW?"

DESTINY JEWELRY

1. Read the postcard to learn what each bead does, and visit www.WearYourUniverse.com for Instructional Videos.
2. Work around the jewelry in a guided meditation, focusing on each bead's affirmations.
3. If one of the intentions is an issue for you, play with that bead to remind you of the changes you want to make in your life. Try to catch yourself in the act!
4. By wearing the jewelry, you are calling down Universal Energy in an optimal configuration. Notice all the unusual "coincidences" that reveal your growth!

1. Meditate on the strengths of your sign. ZODIAC JEWELRY
2. Play with the planets to call in their strength and balancing energy.

How To... Care For Your Jewelry

Congratulations!

You have a terrific new astrology tool!

Wandering Star necklaces and bracelets are fine handmade beaded jewelry, custom made to order just for you.

BECAUSE YOUR JEWELRY IS HANDCRAFTED, PLEASE
TREAT IT AS A TREASURE

WE RECOMMEND THE FOLLOWING CARE:

- Avoid showering, bathing or swimming in your jewelry because each piece is strung on 49-strand nylon-coated steel...and though strong, it can rust!
- Avoid exercising and sleeping (seriously) while wearing your jewelry because inadvertent strain and pulling can lead to breakage.
- Polish monthly with a jewelry cloth.
- Cleanse your jewelry once a year to remove built-up energies and renew the intention of the design. Leave it under a full moon, freeze it, or bury it in salt for 24 hours.
